DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is in response to papers filed on November 2, 2001.
2. Claims 1-9 are pending.
3. Claims 1-9 are rejected.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

4. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

5. Claims 1, 4 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

The basis of this rejection is set forth in a two-prong test of:

- (1) whether the invention is within the technological arts; and
- (2) whether the invention produces a useful, concrete, and tangible result

6. As to technological arts recited in the preamble, mere recitation in the preamble (i.e., intended or field of use) or mere implication of employing a machine or article of manufacture to perform some or all of the recited steps does not confer statutory subject matter to an otherwise abstract idea unless there is positive recitation in the claim as a whole to breathe life and meaning into the preamble. In order for the claims to pass muster they must clearly identify that a computer is doing the steps claimed. It is the examiners belief that the applicant intends the methods to be performed by a computer, therefore suggests putting in such wording in the claims. The examiner is able to reasonably interpret the claims in a broad sense of the method being done by two people sitting at a desk. It is suggested that the applicant shows where information is transmitted over a network and/or server as well as how and where the data is being manipulated by a machine process. This could assist the applicant in overcoming the current 35 USC 101 rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

7. Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by US Patent 6, 556 974; D'Alessandro; A method for evaluating current business performance.

8. As to claims 1 and 4 D'Alessandro teaches a method of

- a. Defining survey categories and gathering feedback from both employees and non-employees (C. 2 I. 60-65).
- b. Organizing feedback in rating report format(C. 3. I. 1-3).

9. As to claim 9 D'Alessandro teaches a method that compares one survey to another as well as using ratios which is another form of comparisons. (C. 9 I. 26-30 and 46-50).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

10. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

11. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

12. Claims 2-3 and 4-8 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Patent 6, 556 974; D'Alessandro.

13. As to claims 2-3 and 4-8 D'Alessandro teaches a method of supplying the employees and non-employees with several survey formats and storing the results.(C. 5 I. 65-67 & C. 7 I. 4-6). D'Alessandro fails to teach the survey format in a "form letter" it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to expand the formats in which information the user enters their response so as to allow for more extensive information being input.
